

SHIPMENTS DROP AS SUCCESSFUL YEAR NEARS END

286 Cars of Vegetables Out

Shipments of vegetables from the Lake Okeechobee region are gradually dropping off as the end of a successful season nears. Growers and brokers state that the past few months constitute one of the most successful seasons ever to be enjoyed in the Everglades. Cabbage, the surprise crop, added many thousands of dollars to the deposits of growers in the Lake region this year when it sold for fancy prices for several weeks.

The past week's shipments are off somewhat when compared with the week before but are better than expected with the end of the season nearing. A total of 286 cars of vegetables went out of the region last seven days with 167 of them being beans. There were 64 cars of tomatoes, 15 of melons, 15 of eggplants, 15 of cabbage, 15 of green beans, 15 of corn, 2 of celery and one egg plant. IT IS because parents do (whether they choose to or not) so absolutely create and maintain the "atmosphere" in which young boys unfold, that we have all the complications of boy life and development. It is because parents do dominate almost exclusively the early years of youth, that we get later on so much that is so ordinary and unexciting and ordinary in recent boys. Parents divide the blame consciously and unconsciously "climate" in which boy-buds unfold and unfortunately it is parents essentially (and all other members of the family) who contaminate that "climate" by their own "unsatisfied

This is especially evidenced in the whole field of boy conduct and behavior. The boys of the present generation exclaim "I simply do not understand that way." The conduct of a boy, which in the eyes of his parents is "cultivated" and "refined," which in the eyes of his associates is unusual or unexpected, is as great a mystery to the average parent as certain types of conduct are to the average boy. The average parent has little or no comprehension of the underlying forces that account for temperamental differences, and the parents of a boy, as the parents of a girl, are often disappointed in a boy, as has the youth who is being punished for acts the wrongness of which he could not possibly understand.

In the whole field of punishment and so-called discipline young boys' parents often make grievous errors because they constantly resort to methods to secure the results they avoid. The more we understand of child-life and development the more we are impressed with the grave importance of wise and fair handling in the younger years.

BELLE GLADE NEWS NOTES

SILVER TEA

One of the most delightful part of the week was the silver tea given by the Ladies Aid of the Community Methodist church Wednesday afternoon. The clever feature of entertainment was a musical contest, in which Mrs. J. L. Newton played a few lines from each of twelve old familiar tunes requesting the guests to supply the lyrics. Mrs. T. E. LaBry won the prize, a large basket of flowers, for getting all the names correct.

The program committee, Mrs. Dewey Dixon, Mrs. Adrian Dams and Mrs. J. P. "Loosen up, you kids. It'll only cost us a buck apiece and we'll have plenty of hot water."

That's right. For only $5.50 down, an electric water heater can be installed that will supply enough hot water for quinquets and still have enough hot water for the rest of the family.

An electric water heater is like a giant thermos bottle, ever ready to supply plenty of hot water at the turn of a faucet. Without matches, flames and dirt, it heats water silently, safely and economically.

RE-ALLOCATION WILL VOID GAS TAX STRUCTURE

not use their gasoline revenue for purposes other than the construction or maintenance of roads and the retirement of road or bridge district bonds. On this district understanding, the court upheld the present gas tax law as it pertains to six of the seven-cent levy. The seventh penny, provided in a separate law that must be extended every two years, goes to the general revenue fund of the state under the guise of an emergency. Regardless of the wording of the statute, many counties have used their gasoline tax income for everything under the sun except roads, bridges and road bonds. Since this has been common knowledge since the law passed four years ago, but definite proof was written into the records here this week with the publication of an expense account attached to a local bill that released Sumter county's gas tax accumulation. The bill that became a law after swift passage and signature by the governor was immediately attached to the Leon county circuit court by a Brown-Crummer company bondholder committee solely on the ground that this revenue could not be spent to pay fee officers, expenses of insanity hearings and to hire attorneys.

The attack on the Sumter county bill sent shivers down the spines of the smaller county legislators, particularly those who were leaning towards the adoption of the compromise school financing program. Some of them had been converted to the surrender of a penny of their counties' gas tax money and the diversion of this income to the school fund. But when the Sumter county bill literally let the cat out of the bag there were wholesale desertions from the compromise program camp.

Since the supreme court pondered long and deeply over the present gasoline tax setup because the justices wondered if the money would be used only for the purposes clearly defined in the 1931 act, then what, legislators inquire, would be their decision in passing on a new gas tax allocation that requires the use of this revenue for the upkeep of the schools? It is a far cry, they ac-

CITRUS GROWERS WILL GET LOANS

TAMPA, May 9.—(FNS)—Loans which may total $2,500,000 to Florida citrus growers for rehabilitation of their groves damaged by freeze, have been authorized by the farm credit administrator, C. W. Lyons, president of the Lyons Farm Lumber company, was advised in a telegram from a Congressman, J. Harold Petersen.

Citrus loans up to $50,000 per acre and up to $2,000 per individual will be granted, the wire said, for pruning, fertilizing, cultivating, digging and spraying under a rehabilitation program based on common-sense requirements.

This means that Florida citrus growers will be able to put their properties in order and it will be a tremendous help to the industry," said Lyons, leader in the fight for such governmental aid.

Mr. Lyons paid high tribute to the work of Congressman Petersen and Sears, Senators Trammell and Fletcher, and the Federal Land Bank of Columbia for their efforts which were largely responsible for securing this special appropriation for the aid of Florida citrus growers.

Funds for the free books will be raised by a special levy of 3-4 of a mill upon all real estate.
